In September 2019, PhosAgro was listed among 30 UN Global Compact LEAD companies.

The Global Compact is the UN's largest initiative to encourage private companies worldwide to adopt sustainable and socially responsible policies. PhosAgro joined in as an active participant of this international initiative in November 2018. Over the last 15 years, the Global Compact brought together over 10,000 businesses from 170 countries. Inclusion in the LEAD group serves as a recognition of our outstanding achievements in corporate social responsibility and highlights our strong commitment to these principles.

PhosAgro joined the European Sustainable Phosphorus Platform (ESPP).

We are the first fertilizer company with production sites outside the European Union to join ESPP.

This is a logical step towards integrating PhosAgro into the international community. It offers an opportunity to share knowledge and technology, collaborate in addressing pressing issues facing humanity, and build a constructive dialogue with regulators and national governments, which is of particular importance against the backdrop of the world community's increasing attention to food safety and human health.

PhosAgro Group and UNESCO agreed to extend their cooperation on the Green Chemistry for Life programme until 2022.

This is a perfect example of an international initiative to support young chemists. The programme runs in 93 countries worldwide and covers almost all continents.
